This hearing will feature top independent experts with extensive experience in Mexico and with border issues. While the U.S. is currently engaged in initiatives with Mexico aimed at strengthening existing law enforcement cooperation, intelligence sharing, and training (e.g., the MÃ©rida Initiative), this hearing asks the related question of what more the U.S. can do on our side of the border to help stop the increasing border violence.

WITNESS LIST:

Andrew Selee
Director
Woodrow Wilson Center Mexico Institute, which published the January 2009 report “The United States and Mexico: Towards a Strategic Partnership;”

Michael A. Braun
Managing Partner
Spectre Group International LLC (Former Drug Enforcement Administration Assistant Administrator / Chief of Operations)

Tom Diaz
Senior Policy Analyst
Violence Policy Center (Author of “Making a Killing: the Business of Guns in America.”)