Administered shortly after exposure to HIV, post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) antiretroviral drugs can help reduce the risk of HIV infection. This week's HIV/AIDS Today summarizes the clinical recommendations and research on HIV post-exposure prophylaxis.

Documents and Links

- HIV/AIDS Today, Issue 19