EPA has drafted legislation that would allow the agency to waive any provision of the Clean Air Act, nationwide – including limits on toxic emissions and the health-based air quality standards – without any notice or public comment whenever the Administrator chooses to declare an emergency. Documents and Links

- Letter to EPA Administrator Johnson
- Letter to EPA Administrator Johnson (Microsoft Word)
- Draft EPA Proposal