A new report released by Reps. Tierney and Waxman shows that despite the President's repeated promises to reduce the burden of government paperwork, the number of hours Americans spend filling out government forms has increased significantly under the Bush Administration. Documents and Links

- The Report (updated May 19, 2004)