

Rep. Waxman describes the results of an audit conducted by the Information Security Oversight Office at the National Archives, which shows retroactive classification of documents at the Archives has been more extensive than first believed. Documents and Links

- Rep. Waxman's Statement